

19 May 2003

The best vacations in the world are the ones that are paid for.

Dear Friend,

Whether trekking through mountains or sipping champagne poolside, every vacation begins in the mind—dreaming, thinking, preparing.

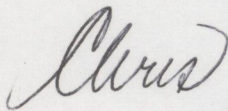

The challenge is to line up our dreams with our pocketbooks. Happily, in today's economy, travel bargains abound. Airlines and agencies and hotels are clamoring for your business. With a little digging and a little planning, amazing possibilities are yours.

Making the most of your vacation time and money

Some aspire to follow in the footsteps of Lewis and Clark; for others, roughing it means skipping room service. In any case, your adventure will be far more satisfying if it follows careful planning. Educate yourself on the places and people and culture you'll be experiencing. Find the best prices and make a budget, so you don't come home to unexpected debt.

The attached article, Champagne Vacations on a Beer Budget, is a springboard for your imagination with a taste of ideas and a sampling of web sites to put the sparkle in your next vacation.

Sincerely,

Oh, By the Way... whenever you come across people who are thinking about buying or selling a home and would appreciate the excellent service that I'm committed to, please call or email with their name and telephone number. I will gladly follow up and help them in every way that I can!

Christine Estes 206-910-7926 mail:CEstes@Windermere.com web:ChristineEstes.MyWindermere.com
This is not intended to solicit property already listed.

Windermere Real Estate/S.B.A., Inc.

13901 N.E. 175th Street, Suite 100 • Woodinville, WA 98072 • 425/483-5100 • Fax 425/486-7165